

TMC Trailers

NZTTMF Member Since: 1957

TMC Trailers is one of New Zealand's largest transport engineers specialising in the manufacture, repair and sales of truck trailers and decks.

The company's main workshop is Hornby, Christchurch where it employs 50 people and where every step of the production process from CAD design, fabrication, abrasive blasting, painting and assembly is performed in house. It also has TMC agents throughout New Zealand and a list of these is on the company's website.

The company can and will build any trailer to any configuration and for any purpose. They offer a complete range of standard units from bottom dumpers to transporters, from curtainsiders to skeletal.

Each can be customised to suit an operator's exact needs, or the TMC in-house design team can design what it terms "out of the ordinary" trailers—fully customised trailers, built for purpose.

Also on site is a large range of second-hand trailers.

This large custom-centric company is still a family firm. Ian Currie began TMC (Trailer Manufacturing Company) in 1948 after serving in WWII as an aircraft engineer.

His son and grandson, Paul and Richard, have since taken up the mantle and the personal approach and quality control of the Currie family is acknowledged and respected throughout the transport industry.

Tangible evidence of this comes from examining the company's production history over its 67 years of continuous operation—more than 3800 trailers.

TMC Trailers offers unrivalled depth of experience and an understanding of the industry needs.

This experience has been translated into a tradition of dedicated customer support, back-up and personal service that generations of operators have come to rely upon.
